Efforts need to be focused to giving Internet users access to basic knowledge about domain names and numbers, as well as first-hand information about what is discussed at ICANN, since the future of Internet, and the future of users in Chile, depend on this.

Our main goal is the development of the country, the quality of life of all of those living in our country, the dissemination and massification of the use of IT (mainly in base organisations); the integration of young people and people with special capabilities into the workforce as well as into the scientific environment and the community; and the development of legislation that encourages the democratisation of the media, and respect towards Human Rights, people's privacy and freedom of expression.
