ICANN for Beginners Virtual Program

Interested in Policy and Advice Development at ICANN?

Want to learn how policy is developed at ICANN and why that's important for a functioning Internet?

Want to find out how you can help craft policies developed at ICANN?

Excellent, then participate in the new webinar of the ICANN for Beginners Virtual Program!

What is it all about?

The ICANN for Beginners Virtual Program is a series of 60-minute webinars, each focusing on a specific topic geared specifically towards people interested in the Internet and Internet governance. Our webinars are engaging and interactive and require no prior technical or governance experience.

For our upcoming webinar, ICANN for Beginners: Policy and Advice Development, moderators will introduce you to the basics of Policy Development and why it matters for a functioning Internet. Plus, we won't just talk about how Policy Development works and why it's import, but also how you personally can help shape the policies developed by ICANN's global community.

What do I need to do?

Participating is easy and free. All you need is access to the Internet and 60 minutes to join the webinar. There will be two sessions so choose the one that works for you!

3 April 2024 14:00 UTC
>> Register here: https://icann.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_sCC6mVgFQvKhye7S0Ue0sQ

4 April 2024 6:00 UTC
 > Register here: https://icann.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_5hXtb400SdyOgSyG6EgGSQ

For more information, please visit our https://www.icann.org/en/beginners/virtual-program-webinar-series

For inquiries, please email: beginners@icann.org